

FRONTIERS IN ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS AND POLICY: A SYMPOSIUM IN HONOR OF MARTIN L. WEITZMAN

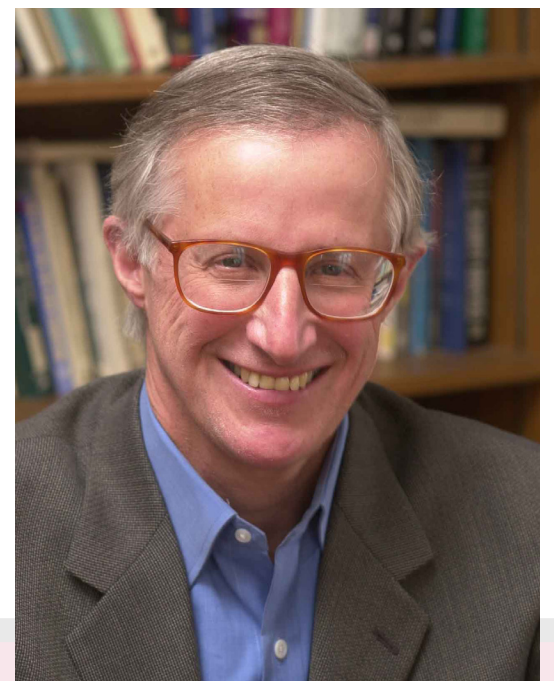

Thursday, October 11, 2018

3:00 – 5:30 pm, with reception to follow
Harvard Kennedy School, Taubman Building,
Nye Conference Room

Keynote Speaker:

William D. Nordhaus
Sterling Professor of Economics, Yale University

“THE INTELLECTUAL FOOTPRINT OF MARTIN WEITZMAN IN ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS”

Panelists will address various elements of Professor Weitzman’s contributions to environmental economics:

Robert Stavins, Harvard University (moderator)
Maureen Cropper, University of Maryland
Lawrence Goulder, Stanford University
Michael Greenstone, University of Chicago
Charles Kolstad, Stanford University
Richard Newell, Resources for the Future
Robert Pindyck, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
James Stock, Harvard University

Please RSVP at heep.hks.harvard.edu/weitzman

or contact Casey Billings:

casey_billings@hks.harvard.edu

(617) 384-8415

Hosted by the Harvard Environmental Economics Program, with support from:

Harvard University Center for the Environment

Mossavar-Rahmani Center for Business and Government at Harvard Kennedy School