

FRONTIERS IN ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS AND POLICY: A SYMPOSIUM IN HONOR OF MARTIN L. WEITZMAN

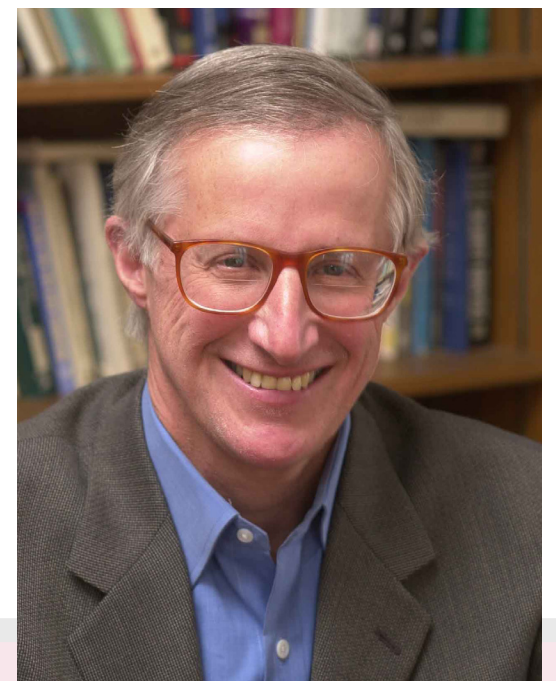

Thursday, October 11, 2018

3:00 – 5:30 pm, with reception to follow
Harvard Kennedy School, Taubman Building,
Nye Conference Room

Keynote Speaker:

William D. Nordhaus
Sterling Professor of Economics, Yale University

“THE INTELLECTUAL FOOTPRINT OF MARTIN WEITZMAN IN ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS”

Panelists will address various elements of Professor Weitzman’s contributions to environmental economics:

Robert Stavins, Harvard University (moderator)

Maureen Cropper, University of Maryland

Lawrence Goulder, Stanford University

Michael Greenstone, University of Chicago

Charles Kolstad, Stanford University

Richard Newell, Resources for the Future

Robert Pindyck, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

James Stock, Harvard University

Please RSVP at heep.hks.harvard.edu/weitzman

or contact Casey Billings:

casey_billings@hks.harvard.edu

(617) 384-8415

Hosted by the Harvard Environmental Economics Program, with support from the Harvard University Center for the Environment, and the Mossavar-Rahmani Center for Business and Government at Harvard Kennedy School